Corridor of Commerce

By Heather Newlin

..."if Philadelphia is indebted to England for the name High Street, which undoubtedly is the case, nearly every American city or town founded since 1700 is, in turn, indebted to Philadelphia for its Market Street, which is particularly Philadelphian in nomenclature. This...was due to the plan of Penn, who, long before his city was laid out or settled, had provided a wide High street, where markets could be held on regular days of the week under certain restrictions and rules."

-Joseph Jackson

Market Street, known as High Street until just before the consolidation of the city with its surrounding districts in 1854, has long been an important street in Philadelphia. For much of its existence, this street has been a corridor of both transportation and commerce. As was the case with most walking cities, in the beginning this street was an area that served functions of both residence and commerce. The famed John Wanamaker, for example, opened his first store here on the corner of 6th and Market Streets in 1861. Many more changes were to follow. The development of one section of the street, that which runs from 7th to 12thStreets, has been particularly notable in the past two centuries. Not only was this section of Market Street an important center for progressive era shoppers, but it has also been a site of simultaneous change and continuity since that time.

Creating search links

You can create a link to an area of interest in the city by using the following URL and parameters. There is one required parameter and several optional parameters for specifying a location, keywords, and time period.

Required Parameter

The `action` parameter must be set to `link`.

www.phillyhistory.org/PhotoArchive/Search.aspx?action=link&...

Location Parameters

To search by a location the system needs to know the `type` of location and one or more required parameters for the type of search.

Be aware that any spaces in a parameter value must be replaced with either `%20` or `+`.

Address - A Philadelphia street address, intersection or place name.
type=address&address=340+N+12th+St

Neighborhood - A neighborhood name from the list below. Case matters.
```
type=neighborhood&neighborhood=East+Falls

Point - City coordinates in PA State Plane South Feet
```
type=point&x=2694843&y=238539

Area - City coordinates in PA State Plane South Feet.
```
type=area&minx=2694600&miny=238400&maxx=2694900&maxy=238700

Buffering the Search - Address and Point type searches can be buffered by some amount in feet. The default is 500 feet.
type=address&address=340+N+12th+St&buffer=200 type=point&x=2694843&y=238539&buffer=300

topics=Railroad,Construction

The list of topics is growing. Below are the currently available topics along with the number of records assigned to the topic in parenthesis.
